mittee. All these gentlemen should make it a point to attend.
Higginsville Advance—"Judge Eldridge Burden today responds to a call, signed by more than three hundred and fifty democrats, comprising some of the most influential men in our county, requesting him to become a candidate for probate judge, subject to the action of the democratic central committee. Judge Burden served the probate court twelve years as judge of the probate court, and during that time, although there were a great many litigated cases tried before him, all except three or four of them were submitted to the court without a jury, and there was but one appeal taken from his decisions. It is said by an able lawyer who has been in his court during the whole twelve years, that he has made an erroneous decision."

Messrs. E. L. Beeding and Wm. S. Claggett have purchased the grocery establishment of Mr. C. A. Dunkle, and will begin business with a large and finely assorted stock of goods next Wednesday. Both gentlemen are well known to the community. Mr.
Beeding has formerly been in dry goods business with Mr. Conkling, and Mr. Claggett a native of our city and the son of one of our most highly respected and honored citizens, Thos. B. Claggett, Esq. The firm will be strong financially, and will be in a position to take every advantage of markets which really cash commands. Both are polite and accommodating. Mr. Claggett has an invaluable course of business transacting in one of the largest and best managed houses in St. Louis, that of Messrs. Scruggs, Vanover & Barney, and with youth, vigor, energy, discretion and money, there is no reason why the new house should not prosper and it will be of great benefit to the city by attracting trade from a distance. We wish it well.
